Established in 1993, the Austin, Texas office of Andrews Kurth provides a broad range of legal advice to a diverse group of local, state and national clients. Our lawyers possess a wide array of legal experience in the areas of administrative law, corporate and securities, energy, intellectual property and technology, litigation and public law. As Austin serves as the state capital, the firm's lawyers represent public and private clients in lobbying efforts before the Texas legislature and various state regulatory bodies
