Jim is the Director of Facilities and Office Services for Andrews Kurth and is based in the Houston office. Since 1986, Jim has directed the Office Services team, managed multi-office construction projects and the firm's telecommunications needs. Recent major projects include a multiple floor renovation in the Chase Tower in Houston, new construction build-out and moves in Andrews Kurth's Washington, DC, New York and Dallas offices. Most recently, Jim has been integral in spearheading the firm's Green Initiative, implementing a recycling program and encouraging initiatives placing Andrews Kurth at the forefront of law firm environmentally sensitive activities.

Jim is a member of the crisis response team and is responsible for providing a safe, ergonomically efficient workplace for all employees.

Jim is originally from New York and attended college in the SUNY higher education system.
