"The Changing Interface Between Legal Title and the Valuation of Fine Art and Tangible Personal Property"

January 14, 2009
Orlando, Florida

Tom Kline, a partner in our DC office, spoke at a luncheon discussion hosted by ARIS at the 43rd Annual Heckerling Institute on Estate Planning Conference in Orlando, Florida on January 14.

The discussion was entitled, "The Changing Interface Between Legal Title and the Valuation of Fine Art and Tangible Personal Property."

The Heckerling Institute on Estate Planning is the nation's leading conference for estate planning professionals. It is designed for attorneys, trust officers, accountants, insurance advisors, and wealth management professionals who are familiar with the principles of estate planning. As the largest gathering of estate planning professionals in the country, the Institute offers a unique opportunity to exchange ideas, to network and to review the latest in technology, products and services displayed by nearly 150 vendors in an exhibit hall dedicated entirely to the estate planning industry.
