"Estate and Tax Strategies"

May 2009

Washington, DC

Tom Kline, partner in the Washington, DC office, spoke to insurance executives on analyzing and dealing with the risks inherent in major art collections at a luncheon discussion entitled, "Estate and Tax Strategies: The Changing Interface Between Legal Title and the Valuation of Fine Art and Tangible Personal Property" at the 2009 Annual Meeting of the Association for Advanced Life Underwriting on May 4, 2009. The Annual Meeting of the Association for Advanced Life Underwriting is a highly focused meeting that teaches tax and political concepts that can implement immediately. The seminars will cover everything from business insurance and estate planning, to nonqualified plans and qualified plans to charitable planning.
