

Banking/Finance Litigation

Straight Talk Value in Banking and Finance Litigation

As respected counselors to national financial institutions, Andrews Kurth regularly advises on issues involving lender liability, financial instruments, securitized financings and related credit issues. We have extensive litigation experience representing state and federally chartered banks and other financial institutions in both state and federal courts, and before the various regulatory authorities.

Financial Industry Dynamics

An understanding of our clients' needs and our ability to prepare our clients for the realities of the changing market strengthen the value of our counsel.

Highly experienced with the industry's regulatory and financial requirements, Andrews Kurth lawyers provide practical insight with the dramatic changes occurring in the structure and management of financial markets across the country and around the globe. Our lawyers represent financial institutions in the full range of lawsuits and commercial disputes, including:

- Lender liability claims
- Deposit account claims
- Defending and enforcing letters of credit
- Trust and fiduciary claims
- Fraud or breach of fiduciary duty allegations

Lender Litigation

We regularly handle adversary proceedings associated with lending activities including disputes with borrowers, commercial real estate foreclosures, UCC matters and credit disputes.

Working in concert with Andrews Kurth's bankruptcy practice, our financial institutions lawyers provide comprehensive counsel on loan work-outs, foreclosure actions and formal bankruptcy proceedings.
