

Overview

At Andrews Kurth, we believe that teamwork is the framework for effective and efficient client service.

Our recruiting efforts focus on locating, securing, developing and retaining lawyers who are qualified to handle complicated legal issues. We also value professionals who share our commitment to cooperation and collaboration among colleagues.

We continue to grow as we meet the expanding needs of current clients and respond to new opportunities. However, we remain extremely selective in our recruiting process and seek individuals who demonstrate the potential for professional excellence.

Our expectation is that lawyers who join Andrews Kurth will reach the level of partner and remain with us throughout their legal careers.
